Emerging Strategist

Your Score: 38/60 points (30-44 points)

What This Means:

You're beginning to think strategically, but your voice isn't yet influential in key business decisions. You understand the bigger picture but struggle to shape it.

You're transitioning from doer to thinker, but not yet recognized as a strategic partner by the C-suite.

Strategic Communication

Your Development Roadmap

Priority #1: Strategic Communication

You need to master executive-level communication. This means crafting compelling narratives, influencing without authority, and positioning technology as a strategic enabler rather than a cost center.

Priority #2: Strategic Business Thinking

You need to shift from technical problem-solving to business value creation. This means understanding business models, speaking in ROI and competitive advantage, and connecting every technical decision to enterprise outcomes.

This Week - Immediate Actions:
